Rep. Amanda Stuck Announces State Resources and Grant Fair

APPLETON – Rep. Amanda Stuck brings representatives from numerous state agencies to Appleton to provide a one-stop shop for area businesses, non-profit organizations and individuals with questions about the programs and resources that are offered by the State of Wisconsin.

“The State of Wisconsin offers many programs and resources for businesses, non-profits and individuals, but learning about the resources available and how to apply can be a complicated and frustrating process.”

“So many of the programs and resources offered by the state seem to be targeted to and designed for the Madison and Milwaukee areas where all the state offices are located. I want to make sure that my constituents, Fox Cities businesses and all of the great non-profits have access and know how to access the programs and resources that their counterparts in other parts of the state utilize.”

“I invite all area businesses, non-profit organizations and individuals who want to learn more about the resources and programs offered by the state to come to the Appleton Public Library on September 2nd to talk to experts who can tell you about the programs available and which you might be eligible for. I hope to see you there!”
